21 ACADEMY

Undergraduate Diploma in Human Resources Management

www.21Academy.education

Contents

2 The Academy

3 The Course

5 The Modules

9 Learning Outcomes

Empowering Students with Cutting-Edge Skills

Our Vision: To offer excellent academic courses that provide a quality learning experience and positive education experience to all students. We strive to foster an atmosphere of aspiration and determination to succeed in our students, which is at the soul of our vision. To achieve this, we are committed to providing top-quality teaching and learning facilities that enable our students to realize their full potential and become lifelong learners. We believe that by providing a supportive and engaging learning environment, we can help our students achieve their goals and become successful leaders in their chosen fields.

Founded in 2018, 21 Academy is committed to providing high-quality education to students from all backgrounds and walks of life. We offer a range of awards, undergraduate, graduate and post graduate programs in various fields of study, including business, education, law, human resources management, and more. To date all our study programmes have been locally designed and accredited in order to prepare our students for the specifics of the local and European markets.

Our institution is committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive community, where students can learn from one another and engage in meaningful dialogue and debate. We promote this particularly among those students who only join us for our online courses.

Our academic staff are professionals in their respective fields and are dedicated to providing students with the skills and knowledge they need to succeed in their chosen careers. They deliver the training on a part time basis while at the same time gathering more experience practicing their profession This helps to keep the training deliverables continuously updated.

21 Academy also offers custom made inhouse training programmes for businesses as well as delivers training programmes at its own premises in Naxxar and online.

Students undertaking their studies at 21 Academy have recognised the cost-effectiveness of each programme and the flexibility as well as the expediency through which they are delivered.

MQF
MALTA QUALIFICATIONS FRAMEWORK

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Human Resources Management

Modules

- Introduction to HRM and its Context
- Recruitment, Resourcing and Talent Management
- Developing People for Performance
- Employee Wellbeing and Reward
- New Technologies and HRM
- Office Management & Administration Fundamentals (E)
- Occupational Psychology (E)
- Payroll Fundamentals (E)
- Behaviour of People at the Workplace (E)
- Research Project

(E) elective modules to choose two

- MQF Level 5
- 60 ECTS
- 300 contact hours
- 6 compulsoty modules
- 2 elective modules

Entry Requirements

- A qualification at MQF Level 4 (one A-Level or equivalent in any subject); AND a pass in English* at MQF Level 3 (O-Level or equivalent).
- Candidates whose first language is not English will be required to provide evidence of sufficient English language proficiency.

OR

- •At least 2 years' experience in the field of Human Resources Management.

OR

- In accordance with the Academy's Recognition of Prior Learning Policy

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Methods of Assessment

Different modules will have different assessment methods which will all have a weighting towards the module's final score. These will include a combination of:

- Self-Assessment
- Quiz
- Assignments

Pass mark will be 50% of the total weighted score of the different assessment methods.

This Undergraduate Diploma in Human Resources Management (HRM) programme covers the key areas of the subject from a basic theoretical aspect while grounding it to the realities of today's world of work. This makes it more relevant to contemporary human resource management practices. Given that today's companies and organisations operate within a constantly evolving competitive environment, this course will help students acquire knowledge and insights of human resource management to assist better their respective organisations from a human resource management perspective.

It also addresses the knowledge vacuum to those individuals who are assigned to undertake the role of a supervisor or the equivalent in the construction industry.

Whou shoudl attend?

- Individuals aspiring to begin a career in human resources management
- School leavers and recent high school graduates interested in HRM as a career path
- Entry-level employees aiming to transition into HR-related roles
- Administrative staff seeking to expand their responsibilities into HR functions
- Professionals working in small or medium-sized enterprises who handle HR duties without formal training
- Individuals aiming to pursue junior managerial or supervisory roles in HR
- Assistants or coordinators in HR departments seeking formal academic grounding
- Career switchers looking to transition into the human resources field
- Individuals planning to pursue higher education in HRM or business-related disciplines in the future
- Those interested in understanding the fundamentals of people management, recruitment, employee relations, and organizational behavior
- Entrepreneurs or small business owners who want to improve their HR management skills for better staff management
- Anyone seeking to enhance their employability by acquiring HR-related knowledge and competencies

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Introduction to HRM and its Context

ECTS 8 Contact hours 50

Method of Assessment: Self-Assessment and Assignment

This module will introduce students to the fundamentals of human resource management (HRM) and explain in detail the various facets covered by this discipline in today's world. Students will also be introduced to how HRM fits in within the other key disciplines involved in the management of organisations and the key components of international HRM.

.

Recruitment, Resourcing and Talent Management

ECTS 8 Contact hours 50

Method of Assessment: Self-Assessment and Assignment

In this module, students will be presented with the issues involved in whole recruitment and selection process as well as resourcing strategies to attract and retain people while identifying and developing individuals who are of value to an organisation.

Developing People for Performance

ECTS 8 Contact hours 50

Method of Assessment: Self-Assessment and Assignment

In this module students will be introduced to the different components of human resource development as a systematic process to enhance an employees' performance, skills, knowledge, and competency with specific reference to the learning cycle of employees, workplace learning and knowledge management. Students will also be presented with the purpose of performance management and the process which leads to the high and effective performance of employees within an organisation..

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Employee Wellbeing and Reward

ECTS 8 Contact hours 50

Method of Assessment: Self-Assessment and Assignment

In this module students will be introduced to the nature and functions of reward management and the different models used within the market. The establishment of pay levels and other types of reward will be explained and critically analysed. The wellbeing of employees will be presented and reviewed within the overall context of the psychological contract and linked to reward strategies.

New Technology and HRM

ECTS 8 Contact hours 50

Method of Assessment: Self-Assessment and Assignment

This module will present students with how emerging technologies such as Artificial Intelligence, Robotic Process Automation, Machine Learning, Edge Computing and others, impact human resource management, workers, and the world of work. Other areas covered will include data handling implications, employee monitoring and privacy issues and analysis how HRM can take advantage of such technologies to enhance its effectiveness and add value to an organisation.

Office Management and Administration Fundamentals - Elective

ECTS 5 Contact hours 25

Method of Assessment: Quiz and Assignment

This introductory course in office administration familiarizes students with the key responsibilities of an office administrator within a medium-sized organization, highlighting the interconnected nature of various administrative roles (e.g., data protection and event management). It consists of 10 interactive 2-hour sessions, encouraging participation and discussion.

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Occupational Psychology - Elective

ECTS 4 Contact hours 30

Method of Assessment: Quiz and Assignment

This module equips participants with the knowledge, skills, and confidence needed to pursue a career in Occupational Psychology or related fields such as HR and consultancy. It offers a practical and global perspective on contemporary workplace issues, encouraging evidence-based practice through interactive activities, group discussions, and applied tasks. Guided by tutors with real-world experience, the course also fosters critical thinking and a strong research orientation.

Payroll Fundamentals - Elective

ECTS 4 Contact hours 25

Method of Assessment: Assignments

The aim of the module is for participants to be trained in the main principles of payroll and in the use of professional payroll systems.

Participants will also be guided through detailed lectures on the laws relating to payroll, such as employment law (including all the restrictions on payroll itself together with information on legal employee entitlements), and data privacy law, in cases of handling employee data outside of its employer's remit (when providing outsourcing services).

The Behaviour of People at Work - Elective

ECTS 4 Contact hours 25

Method of Assessment: Quiz and Assignment

This module explores how understanding human nature and biology can enhance the success of businesses by aligning workplace culture with innate human behaviours. Drawing on principles of evolutionary theory, it examines how personality traits, emotions, and social behaviours like leadership, cooperation, and altruism influence dynamics within organizations. The course adopts a problem-solution-benefit approach to address common workplace issues—such as conflict, lack of motivation, and risk aversion—by uncovering their biological roots and offering practical, strength-based solutions. Through real-world business examples, students learn how to apply these insights to build healthier, more effective enterprises.

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Research Project

ECTS 12

This module enables students to undertake a supervised long essay (6,000–8,000 words) focused on a Human Resource Management (HRM) topic of their choice, using secondary research methods. Through lectures on academic research and writing, students will learn how to design a research project, apply appropriate methodologies, consider ethical aspects, and analyse existing literature. Guided through each stage of the research process—from defining a topic to drawing conclusions and presenting findings—students will develop critical thinking and academic writing skills, enhancing their ability to conduct independent research and apply insights to real-world HRM contexts.

Visit Course Page - Click Here

Overall Learning Outcomes

The learners will be able to:

a) Critically evaluate the role of human resource management (HRM) within various organisational contexts, assessing its impact on general management, performance, and productivity.

b) Assist in the development and application of HR strategies and solutions that address organisational needs, utilising effective approaches in talent management, recruitment, and selection processes..

c) Advise and support management on the adoption and integration of technology within HRM, presenting cases that highlight the advantages and considerations for implementation.

d) 4Develop and manage performance management frameworks and learning and development strategies that enhance workforce capabilities and align with organisational goals.

e) Analyse and recommend effective reward management and wellness strategies, using market research and benchmarking to establish fair and competitive compensation structures.

f) Understand and describe the core areas of human resource management and the various related theories.

g) Understand and demonstrate how the HR practice fits within contemporary organisational contexts and the value it generates.

h) Understand and explain how to develop appropriate HR solutions.

i) Understand how international forces interact with organisational HR practices

j) Prepare responses regarding an organisation's HR perspective taking into consideration market environments in which they operate.

k) Link theoretical perspectives of HRM to the modern-day organisational situations.

l) Apply HR practices to their HR professionals' work.

m) Apply HR policies and practices at organisational levels.

n) Evaluate and enhance people management strategies within an organisational setting, demonstrating readiness for higher-level studies.

Visit Course Page - Click Here

www.21Academy.education

21 BUSINESS CENTRE, 20,
TRIQ IN-NUTAR EMANUEL DEBONO
NAXXAR NXR 2525
MALTA

+356 2099 5486
info@advisory21.com.mt